WORKSHOP
Assessing and Treating Anxiety & Related Problem Behaviors
Lauren Moskowitz, Ph.D.

May 17, 2019
Lehigh University
Wood Dining Room
8:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

BCBA CEU’s & ACT 48 credits available.

Dr. Lauren Moskowitz is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychology at St. John’s University. She earned her B.S. from Cornell University and her M.A. and Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology from Stony Brook University. Dr. Moskowitz completed her clinical internship and postdoctoral fellowship at the NYU Child Study Center.

Dr. Moskowitz has been working with children with ASD and other developmental disabilities (DD) for the past 18 years. Her research focuses on behavioral assessment and intervention for problem behavior and anxiety in children with ASD and DD. She has co-authored several papers and book chapters and has presented at numerous international, national, and regional conferences.

REGISTER TODAY: ed.lehigh.edu/autism

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
CENTER FOR PROMOTING RESEARCH TO PRACTICE
Our mission is to generate knowledge that will truly impact the lives of individuals with, or at risk for disabilities.

Our primary objective is to establish partnerships with schools, parents and families, and community service providers to enhance the use of best practices for individuals with, or at risk for disabilities.

The Center for Promoting Research to Practice is at the forefront of initiatives that yield best practices and discoveries related to the intellectual health and wellbeing of learners with disabilities. The research-to-practice model focuses on conducting research that will have real-world, practical applications to make lives better.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Lehigh University Autism Services will begin to offer intervention programs for young children (diagnosis to age 5) and their families in early 2018.

The Autism Services are housed in the Center for Promoting Research to Practice of the College of Education.

Our practices rely on empirically validated interventions and best practices, including Applied Behavior Analysis, Pivotal Response Treatment, and Positive Behavior Support.

We are starting with a small group of individuals but encourage you to sign up to stay informed using the link to the left.

Dr. Lee Kern
Director of CPRP, Professor of Special Education
Email: lek6@lehigh.edu

Visit our website @ Ed.lehigh.edu/CPRP

Sign up to learn more @ ed.lehigh.edu/autism-info