Winter Sessions January 2019 (term 201845)

CRN	Course	Appr	XLST	Ptrm	Long_Title	Cr Hrs	Days	Time	Room	Instructor	Short_Text
50054	CPSY 464-010			01/08/2019-01/16/2019	Gender and Sexuality	3	MTWRFU	1600-2030		Johnson, Nicole	F2F 4-830 p.m. Jan 8-11; Jan 13-16 No class Sat 1/12 2019
50041	EDUC 403-D10		AB	12/31/2018-01/18/2019	Research available to students in Global Distance Masters	3		-	ONLINE	Dever, Bridget	Online Course, December 31 2018 - January 18, 2019, Asynchronous only
50042	EDUC 403-D11		AB	12/31/2018-01/18/2019	Research available to students in Global Distance Doctoral	3		-	ONLINE	Dever, Bridget	Online Course, December 31 2018 - January 18, 2019, Asynchronous only
50060	EDUC 403-D12	DP		12/31/2018-01/18/2019	Research available to students in Global Distance Masters Kuwait Program	3		-	ONLINE	Dever, Bridget	Online Course, December 31 2018 - January 18, 2019, Asynchronous only
50053	TLT 462-010		AA	01/02/2019-01/15/2019	Special Topics: The Business, Social and Education Entrepreneur	3		-	ONLINE	Garrigan, Scott	This course offers an introduction to entrepreneurial thinking and action as applied to an innovative startup business, school initiative, or non-profit institution. The course is fully online, with asynchronous and synchronous sessions. Students will learn from case study exemplars across many fields that demonstrate the roles of creativity, planning, funding, and perseverance. Participants will learn by preparing a startup plan, writing sections throughout the course as the topics are studied.
50058	TLT 462-D10		AA	01/02/2019-01/15/2019	Special Topics: The Business, Social and Education Entrepreneur available to students in Global Distance Masters	3		-	ONLINE	Garrigan, Scott	This course offers an introduction to entrepreneurial thinking and action as applied to an innovative startup business, school initiative, or non-profit institution. The course is fully online, with asynchronous and synchronous sessions. Students will learn from case study exemplars across many fields that demonstrate the roles of creativity, planning, funding, and perseverance. Participants will learn by preparing a startup plan, writing sections throughout the course as the topics are studied.
50059	TLT 462-D11		AA	01/02/2019-01/15/2019	Special Topics: The Business, Social and Education Entrepreneur available to students in Global Distance Doctoral	3		-	ONLINE	Garrigan, Scott	This course offers an introduction to entrepreneurial thinking and action as applied to an innovative startup business, school initiative, or non-profit institution. The course is fully online, with asynchronous and synchronous sessions. Students will learn from case study exemplars across many fields that demonstrate the roles of creativity, planning, funding, and perseverance. Participants will learn by preparing a startup plan, writing sections throughout the course as the topics are studied.

Please Note that the courses in blue are for global distance students, as indicated, only. If it appears in regular black text, it is open only to non-global distance students.